

getting medical advice

Learn online

www.bbc.co.uk/languages/german

German Steps Stage 6: At the chemist's

Andrea isn't feeling well; see what happens when she calls into the chemist's for some tablets and advice. Watch the slideshow, do the activities, read all about pharmacies and the medical system in Germany then check out the links to sites of interest.

Learning hint

Look up in a dictionary the words for different parts of the body, including their gender (der, die, das) and plural forms. Then make sentences in German such as 'my ear hurts', 'my ears hurt', 'my arm hurts' etc and say them out loud using mein (masculine or neuter singular) or meine (feminine singular and all plurals) with tut mir weh or tun mir weh.

Key language

Ich habe Halsschmerzen I've got a sore throat

Mein Kopf tut mir weh My head aches

Haben Sie Fieber? Have you got a temperature?

Was kann ich (noch) tun? What (else) can I do?

Haben Sie etwas für ...? Have you anything for ...?

Nehmen Sie Take

Trinken Sie Drink

Probieren Sie Try

die Apotheke pharmacy

der Arzt doctor

die Tablette tablet

krank ill

der Hals throat

nehmen to take brauchen to need

viel a lot

Quiz

1. How would you tell the chemist your leg hurts?
2. The pharmacist advises Trinken Sie viel Wasser. What should you do?
3. There are a few words for 'bad' in German. Schlecht is one; what is another?
4. Which of the following isn't a part of the body: Kopf, Fuß, Rezept, Rücken?
5. Is tut or tun the missing word in the sentence meine Füße mir weh?
6. How would you say that you've got a temperature?

Answers on www.bbc.co.uk/languages/german/answers.shtml