

7. Oficina de turismo - The Learning Section

More Grammar

GREETINGS

You'll often hear hola, hello, followed by other greetings. However, in Spanish, the parts of the day don't exactly match those in English.

Any time before lunchtime use:

¡Buenos días!

Good morning, afternoon!

Note that it's buenos, not buenas, as día is a masculine word.

el día

the day

From lunchtime until sunset use:

¡Buenas tardes!

Good afternoon, evening!

Once it's dark, and whether you're saying hello or goodbye, this is the greeting:

¡Buenas noches!

Good evening, night!

You may also hear any of them shortened:

¡Buenas!

Morning! Afternoon! ...