PILLCASTING by Tom Jamieson & Nev Fountain

GRAMS NAFF PRESENTATION MUSIC

PRESENTER Do you live in a rudimentary mud hut?
Do you hunt your food with a club and spear?
Do you lick your genitals clean each night?
I'm guessing the answer to these questions is - no.
So why then are you happy to live in the technological stone age? Especially when much loved B.B.C shows such as Dr Who, Life on Earth and Mayo, to name but two, can already be viewed via your mobile phones as a podcast. And especially now that they'll also be available to enjoy as Pillcasts. But what exactly are Pillcasts?
Well here's my good friend PIXAL to tell us more.

F/X LOTS OF WHOOSING SOUND EFFECTS

PIXAL (EXCITABLE CARTOON CHARACTER VOICE)
Hi everyone, I'm Pixal, the annoying bit of cheap computer animation who inevitably turn up on these things to stop the stupid people in the room nodding off.

PRESENTER So Pixal, what are Pillcasts?

PIXAL Pillcasts are a brand new way of enjoying television. Newly developed Pillcast technology means that all B.B.C shows will soon be broadcast in easy to swallow capsule form, to give you the viewer audio-visual hallucinations of your favourite
B.B.C shows, such as...Points of View.

PRESENTER So you'll have an image of Terry Wogan projected directly onto your cerebral cortex Pixal?

PIXAL Yes, but not just Terry. Imagine also having Tess Daley, Alan Sugar and the cast of Holby City also inside your brain twenty four hours a day.

PRESENTER Wow Pixal, I can't wait. And is it true Pillcasts are perfect for people no matter what their mental state?

PIXAL That's right, clinically depressed people contemplating suicide can swallow a pillcast before throwing themselves off the nearest high building and instead of their lives flashing before their eyes, they'll see an episode of 'Strictly Come Dancing'.
