5. SCENE ONE

6. 002 SFX - OFFICE ATMOS

7. Glenn: (Talking on the phone) Look mate if you want exclusivity, you're gonna have to up your price. Because this is gonna be another best seller that's why. Listen, you're dealing with Sleazon's Greetings - the world's biggest and bawdiest greetings cards company!

8. 003 SFX - DOOR KNOCK

9. Assistant: Mr Nightingale, I have Jeremy Moleskine for you.

10. Glenn: (Whispered) Oh great, send him through. I'm just practicing a phone call.
(Back on phone) So don't try and low ball me, you hear! Cos the only low balls I'm interested in are droopy testicles on a Father's Day Card!

11. 004 SFX- PHONE CLICK

12. Glenn: Jeremy! How's my favourite client?

13. Jeremy: Awful. I asked for sparkling, not still.

14. Glenn: Well that's kind of how sushi comes, Jeremy. Close the door will you?

15. 005 SFX - DOOR CLOSE

16. SFX - FADE OUT OFFICE ATMOS

17. Glenn: Big news. Card Factory want first dibs on your next greetings card. What's that beautiful brain cooking up?

18. Jeremy: Well It's something pretty special.
19. Glenn: As special as 'this candle's the only thing getting blown on your birthday'.
20. Jeremy: No this is something quite different.
21. Glenn: Don't tell me, something like wine o'clock? Prosecco o'clock? Dildo o'clock?
22. Jeremy: No nothing like that.
23. Glenn: Is it a bottle of gin and a bottle of tonic having sex with each other and the baby is -
24. Jeremy: A gin and tonic?
25. Glenn: That's even better! I was going to say a hairy arse.
26. Jeremy: Glenn listen. I've been writing these bawdy greetings cards my whole career now. I want my next card to be something different. I've been working on this.

27. 006 SFX - BOOK THUD

28. Glenn: What's this?
29. Jeremy: My great American greetings card.
30. Glenn: It's 600 pages long.
31. Jeremy: It's not finished yet.
32. Glenn: And you're from Bromley.
33. Jeremy: Glenn, I'm telling you this is the greetings card I was born to write. This card is actually going to mean something.
34. Glenn: Whoah, are you saying happy birthday you senile old git doesn't mean something?
35. Jeremy: I want to write about loyalty, sacrifice. What it really means to show gratitude. No more tawdry fluff.

36. Glenn: But you have a gift! You were the first person to put 58008 into a calculator and turn it upside down to make boobs. I'll never forget when you showed me that, I had to go to A & E! What about your fans?
37. Jeremy: I don't care about the fans.
38. Glenn: Well they care about you. Remember that guy who committed all those murders inspired by your works? You don't want to take people like that for granted.
39. Jeremy: That's rich you talking about being taken for granted.
40. Glenn: Well that's well that's rich you saying the word rich. I made you a millionaire.
41. Jeremy: I've always delivered, never once missed a deadline. I slave away and suffer for my art while you sit there in your cuban heels -
42. Glenn: You leave my cuban heels out of this.
43. Jeremy: Forcing me to churn out prosecco pun after dildo ditty. Well not anymore.
44. Glenn: Jeremy, listen, I am your agent. I've always been there for you. Proofread this. Dry clean that. Bribe this jury. But I think you're making a mistake.
45. Jeremy: I think you're forgetting you work for me. If you want another bawdy greetings card you'll have to torture it out of me. I'll have this new one finished and on your desk by monday.

46. 007 SFX - CHAIR SCRAPE

47. Glenn: Jeremy, come back. Where are you going?
48. Jeremy: I'm going to do what I always do when I need to finish a card. I'm gonna drive out to my cabin in the woods, in the middle of the night, with no phone, no headlights, at 100 miles an hour, with a blindfold on after I've drunk a bottle of champagne.
49. Glenn: You writers and your process.

50. SCENE TWO

51. 008 SFX - CAR DRIVING

52. 009 SFX - SNOWSTORM53. 010 SFX - WINDSCREEN WIPERS

54. Podcast: (EFFECT - THROUGH RADIO) Well in many ways, Thatcher was woke-

55. Radio: (EFFECT - THROUGH RADIO) We interrupt this political podcast to bring you an emergency weather report. Storm Kathy has brought high winds and low visibility to Cold Easton, making the roads treacherous. Can't trust them one bit. The minute you turn your back on them, BAM! you'll find them in bed with your wife and if you're listening Leanne (struggling) get off me!

56. Radio 2: (EFFECT - THROUGH RADIO) Apologies for that. Our weatherman is clearly going through something. But nonetheless, the roads are icy.

57. 011 SFX - SWITCH RADIO OFF

58. Jeremy: I'll show Glenn. This is gonna be the greatest greetings card the world's ever seen. And as soon as soon as my car stops hurtling off the side of this cliff, I'll - wait a second -

63. Pam: (Echoey) Get well soon. Best wishes. Sorry you were in a car crash.

64. SFX - STOP EARS RINGING65. 014 SFX - FIREPLACE

66. Jeremy: (Startled) Where am I? Why does my breath taste of steering wheel?

67. Pam: You're with me silly. Your car swerved off the road. Thank goodness I was passing by.

68. Jeremy: Who - who are you?

69. Pam: Of course, I'd forget my own bum if it didn't fart so much. (Big horrible laugh) Name's Pam. Pam Snoixon.
70. Jeremy: Snoixon?
71. Pam: (Sing song) S-N-O-I-X-O-N is how you write my name with pen. Little song my parents taught me, dead now of course (Laugh). No need to tell me who you are though... Mr Moleskine.
72. Jeremy: You've heard of me?
73. Pam: Heard of you? I'm your number one fan. I've got all your cards. Keep them up on this shelf, look.
74. Jeremy: Good lord, there must be -
75. Pam: 895,612. Every single card you've ever written is up on my shelf. Alphabetised by dirtiness. From anuses to zebra anuses.

76. 015 SFX - CREAKING

77. Jeremy: Are you sure it's safe? Sounds like it's -
78. Pam: Creaking under the weight of your bawdy genius.
79. Jeremy: Well that's... very sweet. But I should be getting back. What day is it?
80. Pam: Monday. Or as I like to call it, is it Friday yet? Hahahahaha.
81. Jeremy: Monday?! I was out all weekend. Listen, I have to get back, I've got a meeting - (winces in pain).
82. Pam: You're not going anywhere my love. Your leg's broken. See?

83. 016 SFX - SHEETS

84. Jeremy: Oh my god!
85. Pam: Yeah horrible mess.
86. Jeremy: I need to get to a hospital.
87. Pam: I wish we could. Roads are closed, phone lines are down. It's just the three of us.

88. Jeremy: Three of us?

89. 017 SFX- DOOR SLAMMING OPEN

90. Noisy: (Horrible honk)

91. Jeremy: The hell is that?!?!

92. Pam: Sorry Jeremy, this is Noisy, my pet swan.

93. Jeremy: That's a swan!?

94. Noisy: (Horrible honk)

95. Pam: Found him outside with a broken wing. But I managed to nurse him back to health. Don't think he'll ever fly again but that means he can stay here with me forever, isn't that right Noisy?

96. Noisy: (Unhealthy horrible honk)

97. Jeremy: He doesn't sound too happy.

98. Pam: He's still a bit poorly Jeremy! But if he ever needs a pick me up, I read him one of your cards and we laugh and laugh and laugh (horrible laugh)

99. 018 SFX - SINISTER MUSIC 1

100. Noisy: (Horrible honk)

101. Pam: (Horrible laugh)

102. Noisy: (Horrible honk)

103. Pam: He loves them. Not as much as me though. Like I said, (sinister) I'm your number one fan. Now you just lie back, relax and drink your hot coco-domol.

105. SFX - FADE FIREPLACE

106. SCENE FOUR

107. 002 SFX - OFFICE ATMOS

108. Police 1: Can you run us through the timeline of events please Mr Nightingale?

109. Glenn: Well I saw him on the Friday. Then he was meant to send me a draft on the Monday but nothing's turned up and now it's Friday again. Or as I like to call it. Is it Monday yet so we can get back to work and make some money? It's just so unlike him. Whatever issues he's had over the years, the divorces, the drinking his own urine, he's never missed a deadline.

110. Police 1: Well how would you describe the deceased?

111. Glenn: Deceased?

112. Police 1: Missing. Sorry. Saving myself some mental paperwork there.

113. Glenn: Well he's - average build - slightly taller than me.

114. Police 1: And how tall are you sir?

115. Glenn: Five eight and a calf.

116. Police 1: Five eight and a calf sir?

117. Glenn: Yes, five eight when stood on the back of a baby cow.

118. Police 1: Understood.

119. Glenn: I don't get it. In twenty five years he's never done anything like this.

120. Police 1: So you're close then?

121. Glenn: Close? He's my best seller.

122. Police 1: Well what about the guy a few years ago? The fan who killed all those people in his name. Maybe he had something to do with this?

123. Glenn: No, he's in prison.

124. Police 1: Is he?

125. Glenn: You're the police, you tell me!
126. Police 1: Sir, if you ask me, this is a classic case of a creative writer needing to get away from it all. I'm actually something of a writer myself. When I'm not looking for corpses.
127. Glenn: Corpses?
128. Police 1: People. Missing people who might still be alive. Sometimes to do your best work you go off grid. That's how I wrote my series of novels about a handsome policeman who time travels into space.
129. Glenn: OK, thank you officer -
130. Police 1: It's not a kids book sir. I can understand why you would think that.
While
some of the action is outlandish, the themes are very much universal.
131. Glenn: Please call me if you hear anything -
132. Police 1: And it has all the swear words. Bum, poo, arse, piss. That's actually the name of the main character.
133. Glenn: Please just find him alright!
134. Police 1: Oh we will sir. As DI Arse-Piss always says, turn that bastard (fucking) time machine on.
135. Glenn: Get out!

141. 021 SFX - FIREPLACE

142. Pam: There you are Jeremy. Another log on the fire.
143. Jeremy: Thanks Pam. And this coq au vicodin is delicious.
144. Pam: Now where was I? Oh yeah, this card's one of my favourites.
'Congratulations on your nude job.' And there's a picture of a man in an office and he's not wearing any clothes, look.
145. Jeremy: Yes, that's an early one that.
146. Pam: And I love these ones 'keep calm and drink prosecco', 'keep calm and drink your own urine', 'keep calm and enter text here'
147. Jeremy: Yeah that last one was a printing error.
148. Pam: You're a genius.
149. Jeremy: That's very kind, thank you Pam. Can't help but notice there's no writing
inside these cards.
150. Pam: Aaaaaand?
151. Jeremy: You know normally the point of these cards is to send them to a friend?
Loved one?
152. Pam: (Quickly) Well normally, people have a sense of humour. But that's not always the case is it?
153. Uncomfortable pause.
154. Jeremy: Phone lines are still out are they?
155. Pam: Now Jerry Bear I've got a confession to make. When I pulled you from the wreckage and saved your life.
156. Jeremy: Yes, thank you again.
157. Pam: I couldn't help but notice that there was a briefcase under the passenger seat. And I know I shouldn't have but I had a little peek inside.

158. Jeremy: But that case had a combination.

159. Pam: There's only so many numbers Jeremy. Anyway I pop it open and what do
I find? A Jeremy Molsekine original. Look, here it is.

160. 022 SFX - BOOK THUD

161. Jeremy: Oh mind the leg.

162. Pam: Little Pam Snoixon getting to read your words before anyone else!

163. Jeremy: Well it's not technically finished but I'm really excited. You see, it's about truth, sacrifice, what it really means to show gratitude-

164. Pam: I had one note.

165. Jeremy: Oh

166. Pam Sorry is that alright?

167. Jeremy: Yeah. It's a work in progress so it's always good to get an outside eye on it.

168. Pam: Well I guess the only real question I had is (shifting) what the hell do you think you're doing?

169. 023 SFX - SINISTER MUSIC 2

170. Jeremy: Excuse me?

171. Pam: The bawdiness. Jeremy. Where is it?

172. Jeremy: Well, it's -

173. Pam: Where's the prosecco? The puns? The black and white photos of ladies from the 50s with a speech bubble saying something modern and rude?!

174. Jeremy: I wanted to try something different.

175. Pam: Different?!

176. 024 SFX - PLATE SMASH

177. Jeremy: My coq au vicodin!

178. Pam: THERE'S NOTHING WRONG WITH A BIT OF BLUE!

179. Jeremy: OK Pam, let's just calm down. Like I said, I haven't even finished yet.

180. Pam: And you never will.

181. Jeremy: Whoah whoah, what are you doing with that manuscript?

182. Pam: Gotta keep this fire going.

183. Jeremy: Please put it down.

184. Pam: People need blue Jeremy!

185. Jeremy: Pam, that's the only copy.

186. Pam: This is for your own good.

187. 025 SFX - FIREBALL

188. Jeremy: Nooooooooo!

189. Pam: It's ok Jerry Bear. Now you can get back to work.

190. Jeremy: You're insane.

191. Pam: You're gonna stay in this room and write your bawdy humour cards. Then I'm going to send them to your agent. They'll keep getting printed and the world will be better and bluer for it.

192. Jeremy: I'm not doing anything. I'm getting out of here.

193. Pam: How? Your leg's still broken.

194. Jeremy: Well...people are going to be looking for me.

195. Pam: Who?

196. Jeremy: I... my...

197. Pam: I know all about you Jeremy. String of failed marriages. Kids you never see. You're like me. You've got no one to send cards to either. I'm the only one you've got. I'll leave you to it. Congratulations on your nude job. (Horrible laugh)

203. Glenn: Alright, you guys are the best writers from the top universities in the country. We need a hit. Give me some ideas.
204. Writer: OK, this may be nothing. Literally, saying words in a room. But what if it was like a horse but it's like a christmas card and instead of "Ho Ho Ho", it says "Horse Horse Horse."
205. Glenn: Right, everyone in this room is fired.
206. 028 SFX - DOOR KNOCK
207. Aide: Mr Nightingale, there's a card here for you.
208. Glenn: Who's it from?
209. Aide: It's from Moleskine sir.
210. Glenn: Jeremy! Thank god he's ok. Are you sure it's him?
211. Aide: 'Have a willy good birthday. And there's a picture of a penis shaped birthday cake.
212. Glenn: That's him alright. But hang on, he swore he was never going to write a bawdy card again.
213. Aide: Well something must have changed his mind. And good thing too, this is a guaranteed hit. And just in time for birthday season!

214. Glenn: No this doesn't make any sense to me... but it might make sense to someone else.

215. SCENE SEVEN

216. 029 SFX - SINISTER MUSIC 3 (THE ASYLUM)

217. 030 SFX - PRISON DOOR

218. Warden: OK, you are now entering the maximum security wing. Hand in your keys.

Your belt. Your tie. And your harpoon.

219. Glenn: Even my harpoon?

220. Warden: Anything in this guy's hands is a weapon. You sure you want to do this?

221. Glenn: He's the only one who can help me.

222. 031 SFX - PRISON DOOR BUZZ

223. Warden: His cell's at the end of the hall. Remember, he's a master manipulator.

He'll prey on even the tiniest insecurities.

224. Glenn: Well it's good I don't have any.

225. Warden: Of course... nice cuban heels by the way.

226. 030 SFX - CLOSE PRISON DOOR

227. 032 SFX - CLICK CLACK FOOTSTEPS

228. Glenn: Hello Dr Scards.

229. Clinton: You're short.

230. Glenn: Let me out of here! Let me out of here!

231. SFX - FADE SINISTER MUSIC (THE ASYLUM)

232. Clinton: Come Agent Nightingale. We're only just getting started.
233. Glenn: Now listen, Dr Scards.
234. Clinton: Please, call me Clinton.
235. Glenn: I have something I want you to look at. It's a card from -
236. Clinton: Jeremy Moleskine.
237. Glenn: How did you -
238. Clinton: (sniffing) Crude-oil ink. Highly flammable but its crudeness is unmatched.
Mr Moleskine swears by it. His modus operandi.
239. Glenn: I'm not intimidated by your French Dr Scards. I know you're a fan of my client.
240. Clinton: His number one fan. Mr Moleskine and I see the world alike. A base, carnal circus of the id. Men may cower behind their facade of civility but beneath we are animals, driven by our deepest darkest desires.
241. Glenn: I enjoy cards about saggy ball bags as much as the next person. But that does not give me the right to commit atrocities.
242. Clinton: I committed no such thing.
243. Glenn: You killed your father on father's day, your mother on mother's day, you removed the floor from an All Bar One, plummeting fourteen hen-dos to their deaths.
244. Clinton: Talk about a bottomless brunch.
245. Glenn: You're a mad man!
246. Clinton: Then what does that make you, to come to a mad men for help, little Nightingale?
247. Glenn: I'm 5'8" with high eels.

248. Clinton: Come again?
249. Glenn: As in, if an eel took drugs and looked at me, they would think I was 5'8". Jeremy's been missing for weeks and suddenly this card drops through my door? I know he's trying to tell me something. Look at this.
250. Rustle paper.
251. Clinton: "Have a willy good birthday". Another example of Mr Moleskine's trademark prurience. Or is it?
252. Glenn: Go on...
253. Clinton: Look at the spacing on the y of the willy. It's all wrong. Mr Moleskine is a man who prides himself on his fontal locationing. And yet, here it's chaotic. Pushed right up next to the L.
254. Glenn: I don't understand.
255. Clinton: It's an equation. The Y is Jeremy and it's being held against its will.
256. Glenn: You're saying somebody's holding him captive? But who? A fan?
257. Clinton: Compared to me agent, they are merely fairweather.
258. Glenn: Well how do we find them?
259. Clinton: Oh if you want my help, I'll need something in return. Quid pro quo.
260. Glenn: Your German's not gonna work either. What do you want?
261. Clinton: I want a key to my cell and a loaded shotgun.
262. Glenn: That is not doable.
263. Clinton: We don't know how much time Mr Moleskine has left. Tick tock, agent
Nightingale. Or as the man himself might say... prick cock.
264. SCENE EIGHT

265. 003 SFX - FIREPLACE

266. Jeremy: There we go Pam, finished another one.

267. Pam: "Congratulations you Legend" But look the leg's crossed out and "bell" is written in graffiti writing above!

268. Jeremy: Yes Congratulations you Bellend.

269. Pam: Oh Jerry Bear I love it. This is some of your best work.

270. Jeremy: Thanks Pam. And now my leg is healing, maybe soon I could get some fresh air or leave this room?

271. Pam: Save your silly jokes for your cards Jerry Bear. Well I'll pop into Cold easton and post this to your agent. I'll grab some more of your special ink too, only the best for my Jerry Bear. Now don't you go anywhere!

however find the doors barricaded, all the fire alarms with their batteries removed and the words 'there's nothing wrong with a bit of blue' written in

329. Pam: Yes Noisy, you played your part perfectly. I think you deserve a little treat.
330. Jeremy: I know what you did Pam. I saw the tapes. You won't get away with this.
- 331. 050 SFX - SWAN LAKE
332. Pam: Do you know what they say about swans Jeremy? They can break a man's legs. Especially if they've got a sledgehammer.
333. Noisy: (Honk)

334. 051 SFX - HAMMER DRAGGING

335. Jeremy: Noisy...Noisy you don't have to do this.

336. Pam: But he wants to. Don't you Noisy?

337. Noisy: (Honk)

338. Jeremy: Pam. Please. I made a mistake alright. I'm going to go back inside. We can talk about this.

339. Pam: Do it.

340. Jeremy: No. No please, I was getting better!

341. Pam: BREAK THEM NOISY!

342. Noisy: (Honk)

351. SCENE NINE

352. 054 SFX - PRISON DOOR

353. Glenn: Dammit Clinton. Three more cards have arrived and we are still no closer to finding Jeremy.

354. Clinton: Why should you care, Agent Nightingale? Your company's making more money than ever.
355. Glenn: This isn't about money Scards. When I graduated from agent academy, I took an oath. To stand by my client, through hell or highwater, to give them more time than I give my own daughter. To pander, placate, and negotiate. To give 100% and ask for nothing in return - except 15% plus VAT. You know what I think? I think you're scared.
356. Clinton: Of what? A literary agent with two foot heels and three foot hair?
357. Glenn: Not of me. You're scared you've been replaced. Usurped by another admirer. By his true number one fan.
358. Clinton: The first card. Read it to me.
- 359. 055 SFX - DETECTIVE WORKING OUT MUSIC
360. Rustle script.
361. Glenn: 'Congratulations you legend!'
362. Clinton: Yes but he's crossed out the leg and put "bell" in graffiti writing on top.
363. Glenn: It's a twist on a classic. So what?
364. Clinton: The leg has been destroyed. It has been...
365. Glenn: Broken.
366. Clinton: Exactly, he's broken his leg. Now, look at this one. A buxom lawyer in a courtroom with the caption 'the prosecution breasts'.
367. Glenn: You'd give it to a friend when they're acquitted for harassment. So what?
368. Clinton: Look closer agent. There are four extra Rs in the word breast. He's actually saying brrrr-east. He's somewhere cold and somewhere east.
369. Glenn: (Flummoxed) But the only place that's cold and east of here is Cold-Easton.

370. Clinton: You're beginning to fly, little Nightingale. But who? Who is holding him captive? The final card.

371. Rustle script.

372. Glenn: Well it's a picture of a scientist holding a calculator and he's saying "From my calculations your farts are noxious. Good luck with the colonoscopy"

373. Clinton: But the word noxious is in its most violent form. All capitals. Why?

374. Glenn: There's something there, I can nearly see it.

375. Clinton: Why do we send cards, agent? To commemorate life's most significant moments. To send a message so precise that only the recipient could truly understand.

376. Glenn: ... The calculator.

377. Clinton: Go on.

378. Glenn: The card's upside down. It's not noxious.

379. Rustle script.

380. Glenn: It's Snoixon. That's the name of the person who's got him. But how do we find them?

381. SFX - STOP DETECTIVE MUSIC

382. Clinton: Well the sender address is on the back of all of these.

383. Glenn: Oh GOD I wasted so much time

387. Pam: Well all I want is for you to keep writing these cards.
388. Jeremy: This is torture. I can't think of any more. There's only so many times it can be wine o'clock.
389. Pam: (Really horrible now) Well you've got all the time in the world now. This is your life Jeremy and there is no one coming to save you.

Battersea
Frogs and Toads home?
406. Pam: Oh. I'm afraid now's not a good time.

407. Chugger: Well it's funny you should say that madame because now is also not a good time to be a frog or a toad.

408. Pam: Right, I'm just in the middle of -

409. Chugger: Every year, thousands of frogs and toads are licked to death for their hallucinogenic powers. I myself am a recovering toad addict, or 'toady'.

410. Pam: I don't give my details to strangers so -

411. Chugger: If you can let me finish madame. It wasn't just licking either. I don't know if you're familiar with the term toad in the hole -

412. Jeremy: (Off mic) Heeeeeeeelp!

413. Chugger: Is that another voice I can hear inside madame?

414. Pam: No no. Just me.

415. Jeremy: (Off mic) Heeeeeelp!

416. Chugger: Because if there is another resident at this address madame, I do have the legal right to enter the property and give them the exact same pitch.

417. Pam: No no, you can't come in!

418. 060 SFX - DOOR OPENING

422. Jeremy: Oh my God! You shot him!

423. Pam: He shouldn't have poked his nose in.

424. Jeremy: You've done it now Pam. They're going to come looking for him.
 You know what these door to door people are like, if you cut one down, two more will take its place.

425. Pam: You're right....looks like it's a goodbye card for you.

437. Jeremy: Pam, please -

438. Pam: I cared for you! Fed you! Cut your brakes for you!

439. Jeremy: Wait, what?!

440. Pam: I have always been there for you! And this is how you repay me?

441. Jeremy: You're right. I've been ungrateful, selfish. So please, let me make that right. Before I die let me write you a thankyou card.

442. Pam: What?

443. Jeremy: A Jeremy Moleskine original. Just for you.

444. Pam: You'd do that? For me?

445. Jeremy: My final card for my number one fan.
